

ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 14001:2015 into force

In an effort to keep our Clients up-to-date with the latest developments related to Quality and Environmental Standards, we would like to announce that ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 14001:2015 standards are now into force. This will trigger off certain actions from the Companies that have to be taken for the forthcoming annual verifications or for any new certifications.

A short background is summarized below for better understanding of the interested parties

Background:

As from 01 March 2017, all new certifications and annual verifications (as applicable) are conducted in accordance with new ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 14001:2015. The two standards are less rigid than previous versions while incorporating more business management terminology and concepts. The documentation requirements are also less prescriptive, allowing the Companies to adjust their concepts and procedures based on their actual needs.

In line with the above, ISO Auditors will seek understanding and justification from the Companies regarding their Policy, Strategy, Quality and Environmental objectives for ensuring proper compatibility.

Previous certificates shall remain valid until 30 September 2018.

Applicability:

As a result of the above changes, Quality and Environmental Management Systems should be amended for meeting the new requirements and timeline transitions.

Services offered:

AMC has been specializing in quality and environmental management systems for many years now, gaining significant experience in the field.

In this context, our Office can substantially contribute the Companies, by providing deeper understanding of the required changes, correct interpretation of the new concepts, streamlined applications of the new clauses, as well as full upgrades of the existing Management Systems for compliance with the new requirements of ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 14001:2015.

Training seminars aiming to familiarize the Companies with the new developments are also provided either in our certified Training Centre or at the Companies' premises.

For further inquiries please send your messages at mail@alphamrn.com.